The library is a marvelous place. Even in a small library like ours, the degree to which a person can enrich himself, free of charge, proves the library to be one of the school's greatest bargains.

Mrs. Helt, our retiring librarian, has done a lot to keep this bargain a true one. She, as all librarians must, has maintained order, efficiency, and quiet. She has established a high degree of continuity and predictability in the library, even though it has moved several times and has been forced to supply an ever increasing number of users over the years. And she has dug up, for individuals, more facts, more famous lines, and more magazines than any of us will probably do in two lifetimes. For all these things, Mrs. Helt, we thank you for a job well done.

IN APPRECIATION

MR. JOSEPH WEBER

Dedication comes in many forms. A soldier is dedicated to a country. A patriot is dedicated to an idea. Peaceful times call into action those dedicated to tranquil pursuits, but the sincerity of these people is no less nor is their cause any less respectable.

A man has dedicated his life to teaching. He has ventured beyond the call of duty to accord the benefits of his education and experience to those without his years. He is a patient man. He appears single-minded; but his single-mindedness is only further proof of dedication to the hope that youngsters in some way may see the value of safety, confidence and cooperation involved directly in driving and perhaps indirectly in other facets of the complete life.

Mr. Weber, we salute you.

STUDENT LIFE

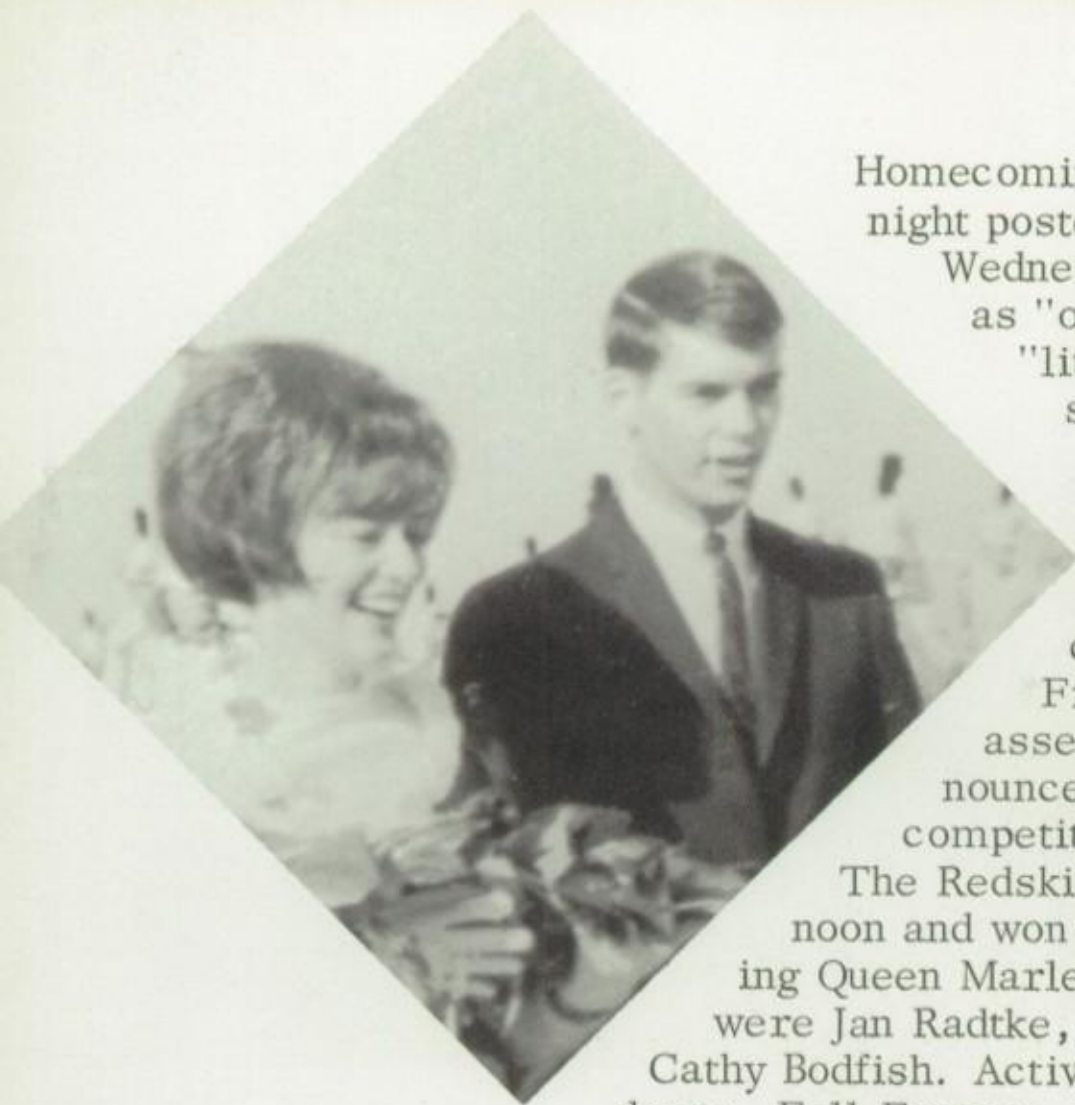

1966 HOME

Homecoming Week activities began with a Tuesday night poster party, the three classes competing.

Wednesday was Class day, with seniors dressed as "old fogeys" and juniors and sophomores as "little kiddies." A muddy tug-of-war after school ended in a draw. Thursday was Mourning Day, with everyone dressed in black. At the pep assembly that afternoon, the Alameda Pirates were symbolically laid to rest, complete with coffin.

Friday was Red-and-White day. At a pep assembly held in the evening, it was announced that the seniors had won the class competition award.

The Redskins took on the Pirates Saturday afternoon and won easily, 30-6. At the game, Homecoming Queen Marlene Bentino was crowned. Attending were Jan Radtke, Becky Visscher, Pam Thomas, and Cathy Bodfish. Activities came to a pleasant close with the dance, Fall Fantasy, held Saturday evening.

'T WAS THE WEEK BEFORE CHRISTMAS

The week before Christmas 1966 added several new activities to the holiday season at Arvada. In addition to the usual outside decorations, each class decorated a certain area inside the building. Seniors had the lobby area, the Juniors the second floor, and the Sophomores the first floor. There was competition between the classes to see which had the best holiday spirit. The contest, which was won by the Seniors, was judged on the decorations and the class skits, which were held the day before vacation.

STUDENT COUNCIL

One of the most active and effective Student Councils in the history of AHS was led by Scott McNeill, Bob Clabby, and Julie Dionigi as Student-body president, vice-president, and secretary, respectively.

The Council was sponsored by Mr. Drew and Mrs. Marjorie Thomson. The Council was active this year in County Student Council, and served as a main coordinating unit between students and administration, and helped to insure better communication between the students and their government.

The Council's activities included the organization, planning, and completion of Homecoming activities, the sponsoring of a float in the Arvada Harvest Festival Parade, the continued support of an American Indian Orphan and the decoration of AHS at Christmas.

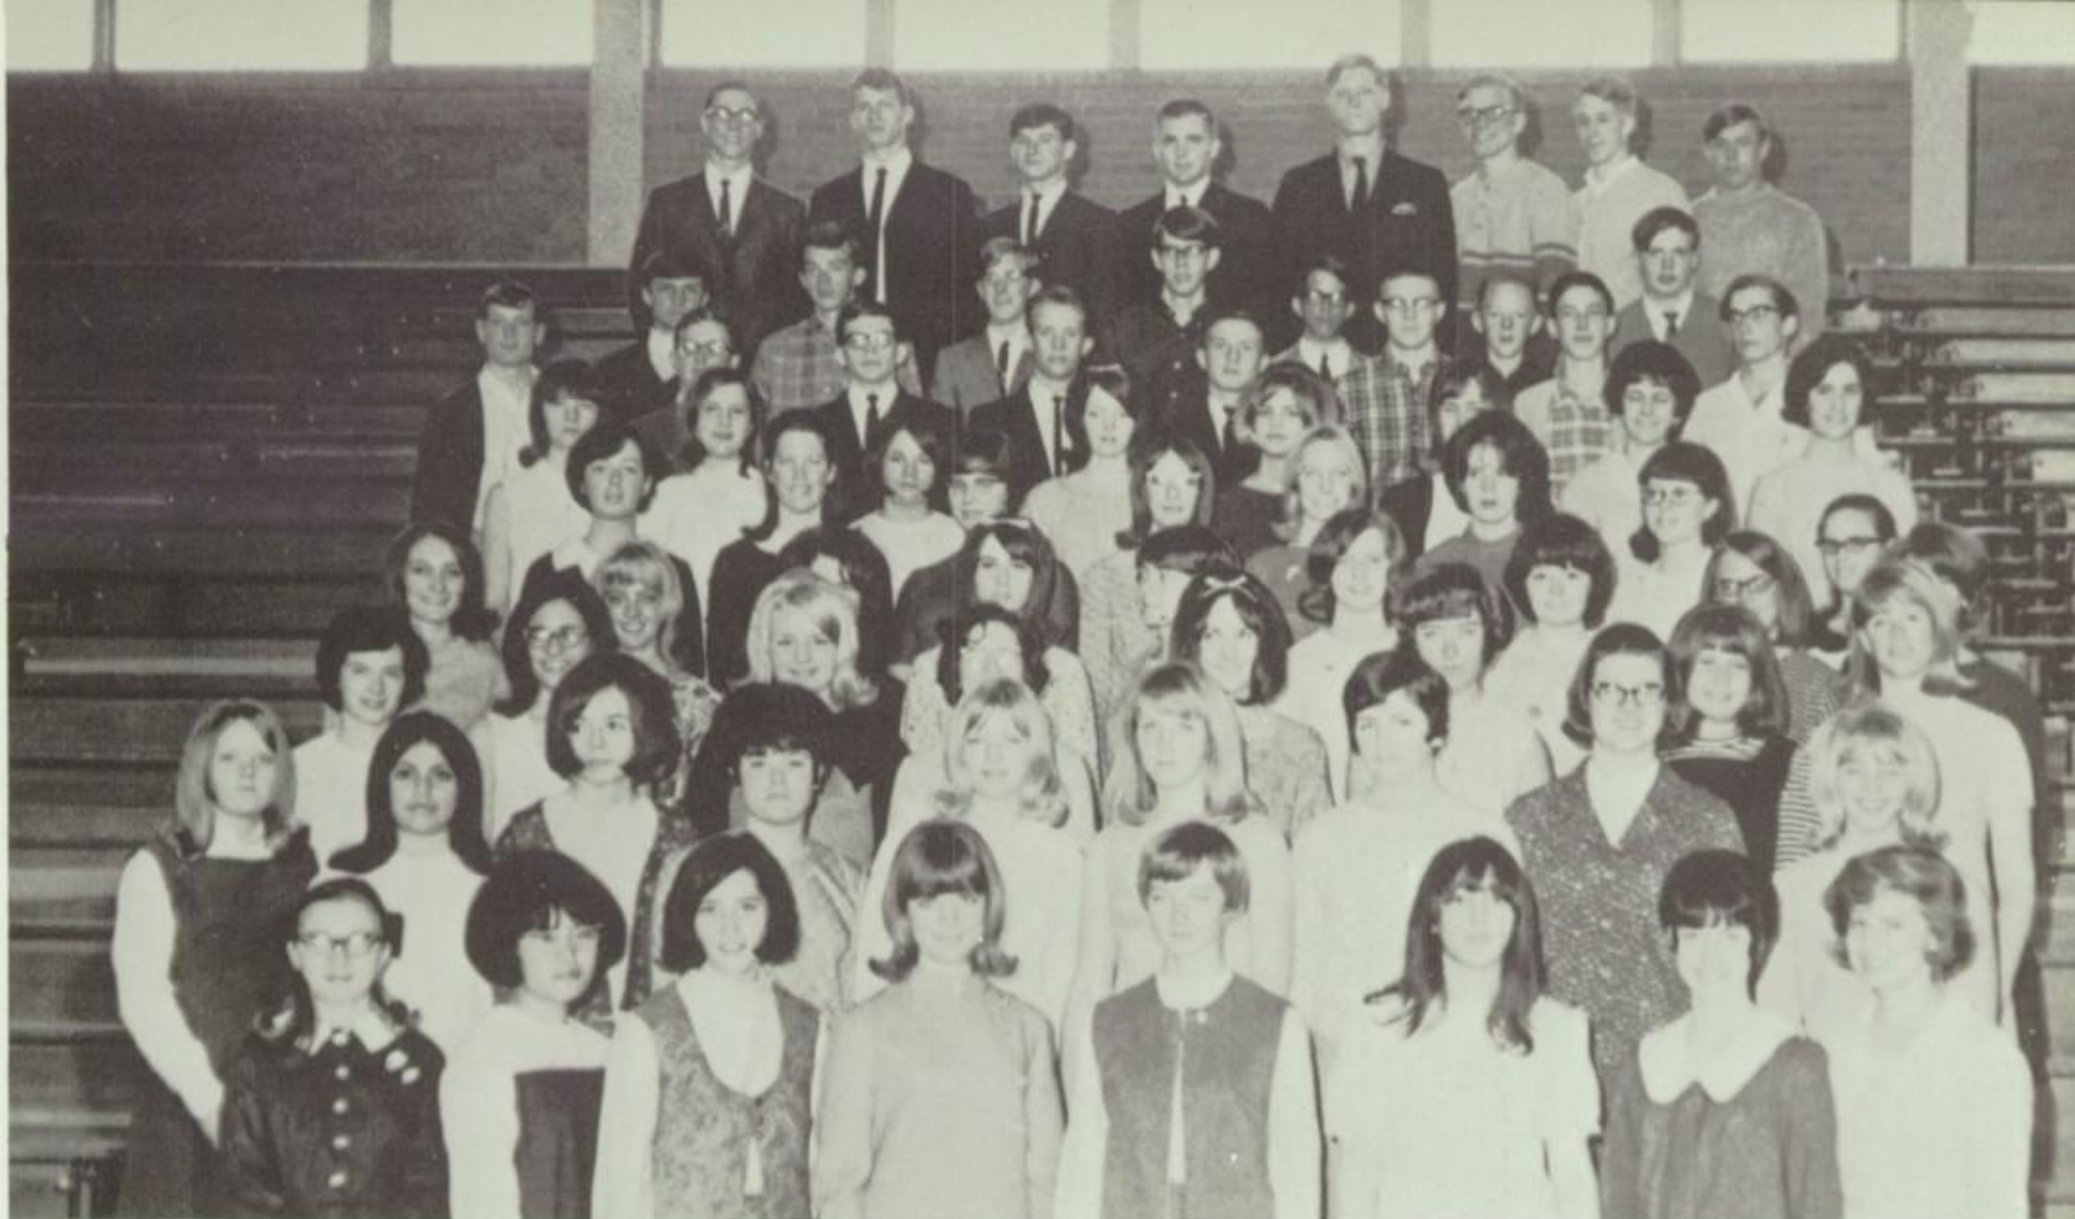

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Outstanding examples of scholarship, character, service, and leadership are the qualities necessary for membership in the National Honor Society. In addition to these qualities a prospective member must be in the upper ten percent of his class if he is a junior or the upper twenty-five percent of the senior class. Each year approximately five percent of the junior class and ten percent of the senior class are selected for National Honor Society membership. Thirty-eight seniors, twenty juniors, twenty-two seniors who were selected as juniors, and the three honorary members which included this year's exchange students composed the society this year. These eighty Redskins were honored at an awards assembly in March.

Serving as officers of the Honor Society were Kent Brown, president; Vicky Gilman, vice-president; Barbie Churchill, secretary; and Becky Brown, treasurer.

The society's activities included a joint money-making project, the Date-O-Matic computer dating service, in conjunction with Mu Alpha Theta, and an Honor Society banquet in the spring.

R-1 ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

A total of seventy-five Redskins received the R-1 Academic Achievement Award this year. In order to qualify for this honor, a student must be in the upper five percent of his class scholastically according to the grades earned for the two semesters preceding the presentation of the award.

A bronze pin is awarded to those selected for the first year, a silver pin for the second year, and a gold pin for the third year. Thirty-nine bronze pins, twenty-two silver pins, and fourteen gold pins were awarded to these outstanding Redskins.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Ten juniors and seniors were initiated into Quill & Scroll, the national journalism honor society. They joined the six seniors who were initiated in their junior year.

Qualifications for membership include a recommendation from the advisor, being in the upper third per cent of the class and a junior or senior, and having done outstanding work in journalism.

New initiates were seniors Connie Chittum, Sherri Colgan, Marjorie May, Joel Stafford and Alice Townsend. Juniors included Kay Adams, Marge Clabby, Gomez Gonzales and Jacque Jensen.

Those who were members this year were Randy Bank, Cherie Case, Bob Clabby, Cheryl Keim, Marianne LaTorra and Jeanne Larche.

The DART, a tri-yearly publication is produced by the eleven Journalism II students. The senior-slanted publication is written and produced by Randy Bank, Wendy Campbell, Ann Carlson, Cherie Case, Bob Clabby, Cheryl Keim, Jeanne Larche, Marianne LaTorra, Marv Roemer, Tom Shaeffer, and Joel Stafford, and is sponsored by Miss Georgelyn Schmidler.

MU ALPHA THETA

With a change in format in 1966-67 math honorary, Mu Alpha Theta, composed of some 55 members, the largest group in recent years. Also new were the sponsor, Mrs. Gladys Thomas, and advisor from C.U., Dr. Bertrand Jones, who challenged the club with problems at every meeting.

Headlining the activities of the math club was the planning for a computer dance, which was held in the spring. Officers for 1966-67 were Randy Bank, President; Kent Brown, Vice-President; Rorie Warden, Secretary; and Steve Echter, Treasurer.

T H E S P I A N S

FOREIGN STUDENTS

Arvada's foreign student program in 1966 proved to be especially valuable, both for the student body and for the students involved. Four students were involved this year. More than ever before, and they engaged in activities ranging from drama to math club. The two students sponsored by the American Field Service were Belgian, Martine Duchatelet, who stayed in the home of Becky Brown, and Patti Craib, from South Africa, who stayed with Jeanne Pichette. Other foreign students were Britta Pederson, a personal guest of '66 graduate Kathy Swanson, from Denmark, and Tom Anderson, whose family has moved here from Scotland.

ADVANCED

Headlining news in Advanced Choir for 1966-67 was the establishment of a new group, the Choraliers, comprised of approximately half of the 78-member choir.

Activities included the annual group of Christmas programs, with one given at Lakeside shopping center, a spring musical featuring hits from the 1940's, the traditional spring concert, the All-County choir festival in February and a performance at commencement.

Given for the first time were a fall concert and a series of programs for the local junior highs. Mr. E. M. Pankratz directed the choir; Kent Brown served as student director and Bob Wright was accompanist.

OCTET

GIRLS' CHOIR

In addition to Advanced Choir, the student body heard three other vocal groups perform. Girls' Choir, Modernaires and Octet comprised these groups.

Modernaires and Octet are select groups, composed of members from Advanced Choir. Octet is the cream of the Advanced Choir crop. Kent Brown, Jack Dignum, John Geddes, Gini Gilman, Don Hicks, Lynda Searcy, Rorie Warden, and Debbie Yandell were selected by Mr. E. M. Pankartz, director, from this select group.

Modernaires consisted of the eight members of Octet and also Ken Adams, Paul Allison, Micheline Bengston, Barbi Churchill, Larry Fagerquist, Randy Jones, Lani Mueller and Marty Wamboldt. This group performed at the various concerts of the Advanced Choir as well as for several community organizations.

Girls' Choir was one of the larger groups of its kind in recent years at Arvada. Activities centered around the Spring Concert of the combined choirs.

LITTLE CONCERT BAND

A 79-member Sophomore Band and a 51-member Little Concert Band performed many times throughout the year. All Little Concert and Sophomore Band members belonged to Marching Band as well as their respective bands. In addition, the Concert Band played at pep assemblies and games. Another distinction of the Concert Band was their accompaniment of the choirs in the Spring Musical. Sophomore Band performed, with Little Concert Band, at the Pop's Concert, Junior Pop's, and the Spring Concert. Officers for Sophomore Band were President Janet Hamilton, Vice-President Ken Penn, and Secretary-Treasurer Bill Sanders. Leaders of the Little Concert Band included Kent Brown, president; Dave Lyells, vice-president; and Margie May, secretary.

The Orchestra was composed of string and wind players selected from the three concert bands.

The Junior-Senior Band also participated in the Pop's Concert. Composed of 56 members, the majority were also part of the Marching Band. Officers of the group were Pete Schuvie, student director; Cheryl McClelland, president; Ron Teague, vice-president; and Dave Bennet, secretary-treasurer.

Because of the many talented people from all three concert bands who were interested in the Stage Band, it was necessary in 1966-67 to divide the band into two separate Stage Bands --- the Sophomore and the Senior Stage Bands.

Since they are an extra-curricular activity, the Stage Bands must meet on their own time to rehearse for performances at all school concerts and other special activities throughout the year.

SENIOR STAGE BAND

ARVADA REDSKIN MARCHING BAND

The 1966-67 Redskin Marching Band, composed of 170 members, has contributed to the color and spirit of football games by performing many half-time shows, including Homecoming, in their newly purchased uniforms.

Serving as the Student Director for the year was Mike Buchanan, senior. Performing as the band's Majorette was Kathy Gerber. The entire Marching Band is under the direction of Robert Hurrell.

An art exchange program, field trips, a television program, and other cultural activities comprised the schedule of Art Club.

Sponsoring the club was Mrs. Pearle Pugh. Officers were Frank Pacello, president; Dorothy Meyer, vice-president; and Nancy Ekren, secretary-treasurer.

ART CLUB

Bridge Club was sponsored in its second-year at Arvada by Miss Joan Dingmann.

BRIDGE CLUB

Shirley Bachman, Kathleen Conley, Rhonda Doane, Kathy Gay, Donna Miller, Jeanie Turner and Thelma Widener were the 1966-67 library assistants.

With acting assistant, Mrs. Mary Anne Casens, Librarian Mrs. Frances Helt instructed the group. The librarians worked before and after school, as well as during the school day, and visited other libraries as part of their library duties.

LIBRARIANS

Office girls --- that indispensable group of girls who work with tireless diligence --- are selected for office work on the basis of academic achievement, citizenship and personal qualities, and are given consideration by a special faculty committee.

The group of girls works in all of the various offices throughout the school year. The girls gain actual office experience, and at the same time are of great service to the administration, and student body.

A tie for third place was the end result of an annual campaign waged by our Redskin gridders this year. In league play we won four out of seven games. Six wins and four losses was our over-all tally for the year. We suffered defeat at the hands of Ranum, Golden, Lakewood, and Wheatridge.

An all conference position was awarded to guard Dave Abrams. Second team honors went to Marvin Bachman and Roscoe Abrams. Bachman, who was voted most valuable player on our team, scored fifty points and averaged 5.8 yards per carry. Bob Allen scored thirty-seven points, averaging 5.3 yards per carry. Our Junior Varsity, under the coaching of Dennis Eckley, showed a great deal of depth and strength this year. They felt the sting of defeat only from two opponents, Ranum and Lakewood. The seven games that they won were complete triumphs. They shut out all but one team, which scored only one touchdown against them.

Bruises, dust exhaustion, and hot practices were all a part of the sophomore's first year at Arvada. The spirit of the "Little Reds" came through, however, as they won three and tied three, with no losses. Several scrimmages were also held with other schools. Future teams should be spirited and strong.

Val - You seem to be one of the most interesting person I have ever met. You can't imagine how wonderful it's been standing up for someone in my English class who is not a afraid to stand up for her ideals and ideas. I know you'll succeed in whatever you want to do because you're not the type to ever be beaten. Keep trying to break through peoples walls. You may not be able to but you could try.
